Busy place on a summer day

Songo Pond Beach is shown above in a photograph circa 1930. Robert Clough rented the beach in 1925, cleared the land, and built the beach houses. "He built up a good business and tried to buy the beach during the Depression," said his granddaughter, Alberta Merrill. But he was unable to borrow the money, and the land was sold to Abner Kimball, whose wife, Daisy, inherited it upon his death. It later passed to Daisy's daughter, Ivy Philbrook, who deeded it to Barbara Stearns Inman, the present owner.

Voters will decide if town is to purchase Songo Pond beach

By MICHAEL DANIELS

After decades of talking about it, Bethel voters will face a one-time, big-ticket decision at this year's annual Town Meeting in June -- whether or not to purchase a town beach.

At a special meeting Monday, selectmen agreed to place an article on the warrant authorizing the town to spend up to $350,000, plus some minor closing costs, to purchase the former Ivy Philbrook property on Songo Pond.

The selectmen voted unanimously to place the article on the warrant, but they stopped short of recommending approval, until they have a chance to sort out some "due diligence" issues (for example, obtaining a satisfactory soil test and getting more information regarding water-quality at the beach).

A vote on whether to recommend

'I know its going to change my peaceful little life on Songo to some extent, but that's OK. Young people need a place to go.'

WENDY RICE
Songo Pond camp owner approval is expected at the board's next meeting, on June 7.

No one spoke against the purchase Monday; nor did any of the approximately 50 people who turned out last week for a public hearing on the proposal.

The property in question is approximately three acres in size and includes 900 feet of shorefront and a few small buildings (most of which would probably be removed).

It is on the market at an asking price of $425,000, but the current owner, Barbara Inman, has offered it to the town for $350,000. A recent appraisal conducted for the Songo Pond Beach Committee put the value at $271,000.

The article approved by the selectmen Monday notes four possible funding sources: taxes, bonding, grants and voluntary contributions.

Gould Class of '99 graduates Saturday

Sixty-seven young men and women will graduate from Gould Academy during the school's 163rd commencement, Saturday.

Jacob Ludes III, the newly elected executive director and CEO of the New England Association of Schools and Colleges, will deliver the keynote address. Valedictorian Robin Ghermer and student leader Thomas "Tate" Lacey will also address the class.

The son of John and Nancy Ghermer of Sodus, NY, Ghermer has attended Gould Academy for three years and will continue his studies at Wesleyan University in the fall. He has been active in the school's music, drama, and sports programs, served as a student proctor during his senior year, and was recently elected to the National Honor Society.

Nominated by his classmates to speak, Lacey is the son of Thomas and Ann Lacey of Tiburon, Calif., and has attended Gould for four years. A recently elected member of the National Honor Society, he plans to attend the University of California at Davis in the fall.

Gould's traditional baccalaureate ceremonies will be held at the West Parish Congregational Church on Friday, May 28.

The class of 1999 has chosen Dean of Faculty Mac Davis and classmate Christopher Brooks to speak. Davis has taught English at Gould Academy since 1971, in addition to coaching cross-country running and nordic skiing. He is also an advisor to seven students, including five of this year's graduates.

Brooks, the son of Jack and Barbara Brooks of Bethel, has attended Gould for four years and will continue his studies at Plymouth State College in the fall.

Parents, family, and friends are also invited to the spring music concert to be presented Friday evening in Bingham Auditorium. Director of performing arts Jim McLaughlin will lead the chorus, chamber singers, jazz band and jazz combo in an eclectic hour of music, beginning at 8 p.m.

Adult students juggle jobs, books, family

By ALISON ALOISIO

Diana Marie Howe works two jobs. For most people, that would be enough to handle.

But for Howe -- and other people in the Bethel area -- there's more.

They are also studying for a college degree at the University of Maine at Augusta. It's a seven-day-a-week commitment -- and a lesson in determination.

A writer at heart

Howe works at the Java House in Bethel and operates her own housecleaning business. She's been taking courses through UMA for four years.

She graduated from Oxford Hills High School in 1991, and went straight to college. But she only lasted a semester before ending up in the working world, getting what jobs she could on a high school diploma.

Regional History Center to open next week

By ALISON ALOISIO

Stop by the Robinson House in Bethel and you'll find Stan Howe, executive director of the Bethel Historical Society, pinching himself to see if it's true.

It is. Howe really does have all kinds of "elbow room" -- a luxury he hasn't known in 25 years. And he can't wait to show off the society's newly-acquired building at an Open House June 3.

The BHS took over the Robinson House -- formerly known as "The Elms" -- from the Bethel Inn on April 10. The house will be transformed into a Regional History Center that will offer information and exhibits on much of northern New England history.

It is also providing much-needed new office space for Howe and fellow-historian Randy Bennett. They had been headquartered next door, in the Moses Mason House. "When I came in May of 1974, (the Mason house) was empty," said Howe. "Now, it's stuffed."

The society, he said, has of late been a victim of its own success.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

To the Editor:

I am a firm believer that when the youth of today do something outstanding for the communities they should be praised.

Recently, my son, Adam, took it upon himself to organize the placement of the road signs for Albany Township. He organized how and when the signs would be put up and got volunteers to help with the project, including the members of Boy Scout Troop 565 as well as several Albany residents. He, himself, put in somewhere between 65 and 75 hours into this project only to hear and see some of the residents of Albany complaining about the names of the roads. As this young man was checking to make sure that the signs had been placed in the correct locations, he found that one sign had been covered up. On other occasions he has overheard people talking at local establishments complaining about "whoever" put up the signs and "whoever" named the roads.

Imagine being a young teenager who has just completed a project where volunteers have put in around 200 hours of service and then only seem to hear complaints. He has heard from a couple of people who were excited about their road names, but the complaints greatly outweigh the praises.

Seeing the disappointment on this young man's face was hard to bear. He has worked hard on this project and continues to strive to get the project completed by Memorial weekend, even with the disappointment he is feeling.

This young man did not have anything to do with the names the roads were given. Also, this project was started over a year ago. Many Albany residents were contacted about road names, other names were taken off county maps, some dating back to the late 1800s. Some roads were given the names that the adjoining towns had called the roads, such as Vernon Street and Baker Road. Ken Whitman from the office of Emergency Management gave the road names and town maps to this young man so that he could put the signs in place.

Many roads in Albany have had many different names. Having street signs will aid our emergency services find people quicker, and there will be no question as to which road the ambulance or Fire Department are supposed to turn onto.

As a resident of Albany, I am very grateful that we finally have "universal" road names and signs identifying those roads.

I hope that other residents of Albany will realize how much time and energy this young man has put into this project and realize how unimportant a road name is compared to the support we should give to our youth. Without them, our community does not have a future.

PLEDGE FOR THE BEACH

To the Editor:

The outpouring of public support at the Songo Pond Beach Hearing was overwhelming. I want to thank everyone that attended. The strong message to proceed with the purchase provided the guidance we were seeking.

An article for the purchase of the property will be on the warrant at Town Meeting. It allows the selectmen to raise funds in several ways, including a bond, and accepting funds raised through contributions and grants. Each penny we have contributed to the beach purchase will lower the amount we must pay on our tax bills.

If you are interested in contributing to the beach purchase, please make a pledge, in the form of a letter with your name, address and telephone number on it to: Songo Pond Fund, Bethel Town Offices, P.O. Box 1660, Bethel, ME 04217. We are not going to accept actual contributions until after Town Meeting. Each pledged dollar may help the purchase to be approved at Town Meeting. If the beach purchase is approved, we will contact you with details for fulfilling your pledge. Your contributions are tax deductible.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to call me at 824-4557, or e-mail me at rkzicarella@yahoo.com.

'EXOTIC' AD RUBS THE WRONG WAY

To the Editor:

As a licensed massage therapist in Bethel, I feel I must write to express my disappointment regarding an advertisement that has been running in "Your Guide to Area Services." The ad reads, "Massage -- Exotic Rubdown," with a Rumford telephone number.

Massage therapists have struggled for many years to overcome old stereotypes in our profession. We attend therapeutic massage schools, must pass school and national exams, apply and pay for hefty state and national license fees, and attend annual continuing education courses in order to become and continue to be the health professionals that we are.

An "Exotic Rubdown" is not a service that deserves space in "Your Guide to Area Services." I believe in freedom of speech, but I'll bet our area merchants, professionals, and citizens would agree that this "service" would be more appropriate in the smaller print of the classifieds.

REMEMBERING JIM BROWN

To the Editor:

As I think of Jim Brown, who died last Thursday, my mind focuses on what a remarkable store Brown's Variety was on Main Street. Jim was there for more than 40 years. Customers could expect to find about everything and more at Brown's. I also liked the old-fashioned atmosphere inside the store, particularly the string used for tying bundles that came from some distance from the counter where purchases were paid for and where I had so many good times talking with Jim and his wife, Bea.

I remember going with my parents to the store for clothing, shoes and boots as a youngster. When I began the fourth grade in 1953 at what is now the Ethel Bisbee School, I started to use some of my noon recesses to visit the store to look over all the office supplies Brown's stocked. I was interested in various colored inks and different types of pens and pencils and the numerous qualities of paper. Thus began my lifelong interest in stationery stores, office supplies and printing. I don't recall Jim being in the store at that time (but undoubtedly he was) as usually I was waited on by his mother, Abbie, but I do recall catching a glimpse of his father, Leroy, who died soon after that time.

Through the years at Gould and the occasional trips home during my university days, Brown's was always a special place for me, as it was for countless other Bethel residents. It wasn't until I came back to Bethel in the mid-1970s that I really took a few minutes to visit with them. Our discussions covered every subject ranging from who was new in the community to local history. For years, Brown's sold our historical society calendars as a courtesy, never taking any commission even though it was offered.

Jim and Bea had infinite patience with all the kids coming to the store and making choices for penny candy. Prompt and courteous service was a mainstay at Brown's, as was the feeling that the store was a warm and friendly place no matter who passed through the door. Jim once told me of a customer who came to the store often inebriated and was caught shoplifting several times. On one occasion, he committed the appalling act of vomiting all over the floor, but Jim would never bar him from entering the store. It would have violated his belief that Brown's should always remain congenial and inviting.

Jim's abilities as a master gardener were always in evidence. Even after Brown's was sold and had become a memory, one could still stop at Jim's home in Skillington and buy berries, hardy perennials and pansies. When the cloverleaf came to Bethel in the 1960s, Jim lost his home on Bridge Street to that project, but managed to retain some of the land, which was always a tribute to his abilities as a gardener. I never fail to look down from the overpass to see something that Jim has nurtured.

The image preserved of Jim and Bea and the new owner of Brown's, Martin Mendosa, in the "Illustrated History of Bethel," is not a happy one. Perhaps Jim and Bea had misgivings as to just what would happen to their remarkable store after their departure. I could not help but kid Jim a bit when the new owner called the store M.M. Brown's, asking him how he liked his new "son." In any case, it was not long before the store's atmosphere had dramatically changed and its demise soon followed. Jim told me that a short time after it was sold another party came forward to buy, who would have kept up its traditions, but of course that was too late. Jim was saddened about it and so was I.

Just days before his death, I saw him one more time while chatting with Ed Vachon in front of the post office. Both Ed and I asked him simultaneously how he was, and he said "not good." His strength was almost completely gone, he told us. Later I found out that his heart was failing and his death was imminent. His passing has brought all these memories to mind and made me realize how much poorer Bethel will be without him.

NEED MORE FUNDS FOR THE FOURTH

To the Editor:

The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce is looking forward to the 10th annual Bethel Art Fair and Fourth of July Festival scheduled for Saturday, July 3, on the Bethel Common. We have a full day of activities planned for folks of all ages to enjoy.

An event of this quality requires an investment of several thousands of dollars. We have been fortunate to receive support from many of the businesses of the area, but additional funds are needed. To enable this, we are placing donation canisters in businesses throughout the area starting Memorial Day weekend. We sincerely appreciate your willingness to be a partner in making this Fourth of July community celebration a success. If you would prefer, you may mail a check to BACC Fourth of July Fund, P.O. Box 1247, Bethel, ME 04217. We will also be looking for volunteer help that weekend, so please contact the chamber office if you can help out.

In addition to the wonderful art and fine crafts, there will be a variety of food, music on the gazebo, paper-making for children, a juggler and balloon artist, children's field games and a fantastic set of fireworks at dusk. It has been our plan to design a day that has appeal to local families and visitors alike, and we hope you will plan to stay in Bethel that weekend rather than going away.

Any questions on this or any other chamber event can be directed to the office at 824-2282. Many thanks for your support.

PONY RIDE, PETTING ZOO THANKS

To the Editor:

Congratulations to the CPS-PTA for sponsoring another successful May Fair. I saw many, many smiles from children in the petting zoo and pony rides. I would like to express my thanks to all who helped or brought animals to the CPS-PTA May Fair petting zoo and pony rides: Julie and Andrew Kimball for leading their ponies, Jasmine and Timmy; Becky Slattery also led her pony, Eclipse; Ron Dyke and Doreen Kelly for staying at the petting zoo and for bringing their baby goats; Becky and Colleen Slattery who brought lambs; and the Boelsma family, who brought the silky chicken, bunny and puppy. A thank you also goes out to the following who helped lead the ponies: Kim Baker, Jim Trefethen, Geoff Gaudreau, Jeanne and Trina Boelsma, and to Taylor Buckalew, for taking tickets.

Without these volunteers, the pony rides and petting zoo could not have happened. The 4-H clubs, "End of the Rainbow" and "Grand Kids," also helped as a community service project. Thank you everyone.

Man drowns in Ellis River

ANDOVER--Michael Cuff, 20, of Andover drowned Saturday while swimming in the Ellis River. Cuff reportedly waded into the water at a swimming hole on the east branch of the river around 4 p.m. He then disappeared underwater. A friend ran to a nearby home and the police were called. Andover rescue workers and firefighters dove to the bottom and pulled Cuff out. They administered CPR but could not revive him. He was later pronounced dead at Rumford Community Hospital.

False alarm ordinance to voters

BETHEL--Voters will decide at June's Town Meeting if the town will adopt an ordinance fining individuals whose house or business alarms send repeated false-alarm signals to the town's emergency responders. The Board of Selectmen voted unanimously last week to put the ordinance before voters. The selectmen's vote followed a public hearing at which no one spoke against the ordinance. The ordinance was proposed and drafted by Police Chief Darren Tripp, who said he was requesting it "due to the ever increasing number of false alarms that the Police Department, the Fire Department and Bethel Rescue Service have been receiving over the past two years -- they're increasing at an alarming rate." The fines will apply to "any person whose system causes the transmission of a non-emergency alarm more than three times in one calendar year period." The fines will be $50 for alarms responded to by the police and $100 for alarms responded to by the Fire Department or Rescue Service. Tripp said that in addition to reducing needless emergency responses, the ordinance could mean better service for alarm-company customers in Bethel, because the companies would respond more quickly to problems here if they knew Bethel had an ordinance -- and fines. "Without the ordinance and the controls," he said, "the alarm company will get here when they get to your name on the list."

SAD44 staff changes, retirements

BETHEL--SAD44 school directors Monday approved the appointment of Jolene Littlehale as assistant principal/Title I teacher for the Woodstock Elementary School, beginning next school year. Littlehale is currently fourth-grade lead teacher at Crescent Park Elementary School. She will replace Charles Lomonte, who recently submitted his resignation from the WES post. Special education teacher Christine Lindsey was also appointed to serve as psychological examiner for the district. Directors were also told Monday of the planned retirement this year of Pauline Applin, math teacher at Telstar High School. She is a 31-year teaching veteran.

River monitoring training offered

NEWRY--A training session will be held June 1 for people interested in participating in a volunteer monitoring project for the Sunday River. Participants will learn the protocol for monitoring temperature and turbidity in tributaries of the river's main stem. Monitoring will run throughout the summer. The training session, to be held at the Newry Town Hall from 6 to 8 p.m., is offered by the Oxford County Soil and Water Conservation District, along with the Natural Resources Conservation Service, Inland Fish and Wildlife and Maine Department of Environmental Protection. For more information call OCSWCD at (207) 743-5789 ext. 3.

New barn at Fryeburg Fair

FRYEBURG--The construction of a second 44-stall race horse barn and an enlarged blacksmith shop in the Farm Museum complex top the list of improvements for this year's Fryeburg Fair, which runs from Oct. 3-10. The barn will sit behind a similar barn built in 1995, and bring total race horse stalling capacity to 112. More than 500 horses race on the Fryeburg track during the six-day race meet.

Amtrak speed recommended

PORTLAND--The nation's primary rail safety agency said Monday that Amtrak trains can travel safely at 79 miles per hour between Portland and Boston once part of the track is overhauled. The recommendation from the Federal Railroad Administration has been given to a federal board that will have the final say on the speed for the trains, which are expected to begin running by fall 2000. Amtrak contends it is safe for its trains to travel at speeds approaching 80 mph on 115-pound rail, while the tracks owner said the speed should be reduced unless heavier rail is used. Rail advocates say the fast speed is necessary for the service to compete with buses and cars.

Canoe trail to be dedicated

RANGELEY--A 50-mile segment of the Northern Forest Canoe Trail will be dedicated July 8 at the Lakeside Park in Rangeley. It will be the first segment of a 740-mile Northern Forest Canoe Trail to be officially dedicated. The event will be followed by a three-day guided paddle of the trail. The NFCT, stretching from Old Forge, N.Y., to Fort Kent is a project of Native Trails, a non-profit organization dedicated to the identification, documentation and preservation of pre-mechanized travel routes. Over the past year, a group in Rangeley has been working to establish 50 miles of the trail from Rangeley Lake, through Mooselookmeguntic, Richardson and Umbagog lakes and down the Androscoggin River, past Errol. The Rangeley River Northern Forest Canoe Trail Guide is now available in area stores and from the Rangeley Lakes Heritage Trust.

Loon exhibit opens at wildlife park

GRAY--A summer series of special wildlife exhibits will begin at the Maine Wildlife Park in June and continue through August. Special fisheries, wildlife, and warden service exhibits will be featured on consecutive Sundays from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Park visitors will be able to walk through the outdoor exhibits at their own pace and question professional staff about the featured species and/or program. The first program, titled "Maine Loon Exhibit" is scheduled for June 6.

Moose hunt expansion OK'd

AUGUSTA--A bill that would increase the number of moose permits to be issued this fall from 2,000 to 3,000 was approved by the state House of Representatives Tuesday. The added permits will be evenly divided for bulls and cows. Cathie McBreairey started a campaign calling for an open season on moose after her mother was killed in a collision with one of the animals last August. She has since backed away from the open season proposal, but plans to press for 5,000 permits next year. More than 600 car-moose collisions are reported per year in Maine. The approved bill also turns over management of the moose hunt to the state Inland Fisheries and Wildlife Department, beginning in 2001.

N.H. ready to observe MLK day

CONCORD, N.H.--The New Hampshire House of Representatives Monday approved legislation to honor the birthday of Martin Luther King, Jr. The bill is scheduled for a vote today in the state Senate. Since 1993 -- when Arizona passed a similar law -- New Hampshire has been alone in refusing to use King's name in a holiday. The Granite state has called the third Monday in January "Civil Rights Day." The bill is expected to pass in the Senate as well and be signed into law by Gov. Jeanne Shaheen.

Gas prices jump

PORTLAND--The price of regular gasoline is up 28 cents in the past three months, according to the American Automobile Association. That's 25 percent -- making the average bill $5.60 more than it was in January. As the summer driving season nears it is expected that demand will drive the prices even higher.

From the Bethel Police Log:

Explanation brings more charges

At 9:27 p.m. on May 20 police responded to a Mason Street residence for a report of a fight. On arrival police located a subject carrying a beer. When questioned, he stated he had found it on the railroad tracks. Michael Howard, 19, of Norway was then summonsed for illegal possession of alcohol by a minor and theft of lost, mislaid or mistakenly delivered property.

Friday, May 21

At 1 a.m. a subject was stopped on Route 2 for swerving. He showed signs of intoxication and was asked to perform some field sobriety tests. Joseph V. Catalfamo Jr., 43, of Roslindale, Mass., was arrested for OUI and taken to the Oxford County Jail. He took a breath test and given a summons for OUI, and held in lieu of bail.

At 9:25 p.m. police stopped a vehicle on Route 2 for a vehicle defect. It was found the driver did not have a license. The passenger advised he was tired and let the operator drive knowing that she didn't have a license. Wendy S. Houghton, 20, of Dixfield was summonsed for operating without a license and Alan S. Mason, Jr., 21, of Gilead was summonsed for permitting unlawful use.

Saturday, May 22

At 1:19 a.m. a subject was observed making an erratic turn into the rest area off Route 2, as well as having a vehicle defect. He got out of the vehicle and showed signs of intoxication. Based on the results of field sobriety tests, John A. Sylvester, 49, of Rumford was arrested for OUI and taken to the Oxford County Jail. He was then given a balloon test and issued a summons.

At 9:05 p.m. a subject was stopped on Route 2 for swerving. He was found not to be impaired, but did admit to consuming while he was driving the vehicle. The alcohol was dumped and a license check showed he was wanted for failure to pay a fine. Dennis Walley, 34, of Locke Mills was arrested and taken to the Oxford County Jail.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log, but does not include all reports of police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies. An answering machine takes calls when an officer is not in the office.

Augusta Roll Call Report

By Steven Stycos

Each month while the Maine Legislature is in session, the Augusta Roll Call Report will detail the key votes of our area's legislators during the previous month.

The Roll Call Report is intended to help voters decide whether how well their elected representatives are representing the people who elected them. The Citizen urges its readers to clip and save these reports and refer to them later this year when candidates for state representative and state Senator are seeking votes.

The Roll Call Report is researched and written by investigative reporter Steven Stycos using official House of Representatives and Senate documents.

State Reps. Robert Cameron (R-Rumford) and Tom Winsor (R-Norway) and state Senator Norman Ferguson (R-Oxford) endorse cutting the sales tax and spending more money on local schools.

Many Democrats say doing both is impossible. But Republicans insist using $120 million of the $278 million surplus to reduce the sales tax from 5.5 percent to 5 percent still leaves plenty of money for education, if large sums of money are not spent on new programs.

Winsor and Ferguson are particularly critical of the "Start Me Right" program, proposed by House Speaker Steven Rowe (D-Portland). The program would cost about $20 million a year to expand Head Start and after-school programs.

"The Democrats have more confidence in government's ability to intervene in people's lives in a positive way," says Winsor, a member of the Appropriations Committee. A growing economy will force private companies to provide childcare services, the conservative Winsor predicts, making government spending unnecessary.

Cameron's bill to increase penalties for operating a boat, snowmobile or all-terrain vehicle under the influence of alcohol sailed through the House by a 113-31 vote.

Cameron says he proposed the legislation after repeatedly picking up empty beer cans while grooming snowmobile trails as president of Rumford's Polar Bear Snowmobile Club. He supports "anything we can do to get the message across that this is not the place to be drinking," he says.

Cameron was one of only 17 representatives to vote to prohibit petition gatherers from working within 250 feet of a voting place. "Polls are for voting, period," he insists. Voters in Rumford, he says, are forced to "running the gauntlet" of petition gatherers before leaving the polling place. Jodrey and Winsor opposed the bill.

Cameron, a moderate, also differed with many Republican representatives over a bill to prohibit the Land Use Regulation Commission (LURC) from fining first-time violators of its regulations. Cameron voted against the bill, while Jodrey and Winsor supported it. The bill was defeated 42-100 by a coalition of Democrats and Republicans who worried that some people would take advantage of the no-fine policy and intentionally damage the environment.

The Legislature defeated Ferguson's bill to change the name of the Maine Clean Elections Act to the Maine Public Elections Act. The three-term Senator says he proposed the change to eliminate the "dirty" connotation of financing a campaign by fundraising, rather than accepting public funds provided by law. "People who go the traditional route are probably at a disadvantage," he observes.

When the law was originally proposed to the Legislature by a petition campaign, Ferguson chaired the committee reviewing it. He convinced a majority of the committee to vote for the bill and avoid a referendum, he relates. But later, after returning from another committee meeting, he discovered they had changed their minds. The proposal was then put on the ballot and approved by voters.

Ferguson wanted the Legislature to approve the plan because he realized that once it became law by referendum, it would be extremely difficult for the Legislature to amend.

Below is a summary of some of the major votes recently taken at the Legislature. Listed in the chart is the percentage of roll call votes for which the legislator was present as of May 17.

SENATE

Roadside Signs: 4/26/99 vote on LD 323, sponsored by state Sen. Paul Davis (R-Piscataquis), to permit businesses which employ fewer than 20 people to construct one 4 foot x 8 foot sign within a mile of their business. Supporters say the bill would help small business, especially in northern Maine, but opponents argue that the bill weakens Maine's ban on billboards and would cause scenic pollution. The bill was defeated 9-21.

Make Forestry Information Public: 4/29/99 vote on LD 1144, sponsored by state Rep. Roland Samson (D-Jay), to require that annual forestry reports filed by owners of more than 20,000 acres of land be made public. Currently information about statewide logging is public, but not reports on specific landowners. Supporters say the information is needed for legislators and the public to intelligently debate forest practices. But opponents say that information should remain confidential. The bill was defeated 8-26.

Logging Next to Great Ponds: 5/17/99 vote on LD 1458, sponsored by state Rep. Clifton Foster (R-Gray), to permit logging on the shorelines of Maine's great ponds during the winter. Currently logging within 75 feet of a great pond is banned. Supporters say mature trees are wasted when they die in the zone and that the bill, which allows 30 percent of trees in the zone to be cut every 10 years, provides adequate environmental protection. Opponents say cutting will damage scenic shorelines and encourage erosion. The bill passed 20-14.

Two-thirds Vote to Raise Taxes: 5/10/99 vote on LD 359, sponsored by state Rep. Paul Waterhouse (R-Bridgton), to submit a constitutional amendment to voters to require a two-thirds vote of the Legislature to increase taxes or fees. Supporters argue that the state government is too big and that tax hikes should require strong support, but opponents say the proposal destroys the principle of majority rules. The bill was defeated 13-20.

Ban Lawsuits Against Gun Companies: 5/17/99 vote on LD 2192, sponsored by state Rep. Royce Perkins (R-Penobscot), to prohibit municipalities from suing gun manufacturers. Supporters say lawsuits by Chicago, Miami and other cities are improperly seeking gun control through the courts, but opponents argue that the state should not be telling cities and towns whether they can go to court. The bill was initially defeated 11-23, but on Monday the Senate reversed itself and approved the bill.

Prohibit Strikebreaking Companies: 5/17/99 vote on LD 1046, sponsored by state Rep. Roland Samson (D-Jay), to prohibit companies which provide strikebreakers from operating in Maine. Supporters say the companies prey on other people's misfortune, but opponents say banning the companies upsets the balance between unions and management. The bill passed 22-12.

Longer Term Limits: 5/11/99 vote on LD 1078, sponsored by state Sen. Peter Mills (R-Somerset), to extend term limits for legislators and constitutional officers from eight to 12 years. Supporters say longer terms will enable voters to keep experienced public officials, but opponents counter that regularly replacing elected officials insures citizen control of government. The bill was defeated 12-21.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Roadside Signs: 4/29/99 vote on LD 323 (see Senate vote). The bill was defeated 64-85.

Make Forestry Information Public: 4/5/99 vote on LD 1144 (see Senate vote). The bill was defeated 47-92.

Logging Next to Great Ponds: 5/12/99 vote on LD 1458 (see Senate vote). The bill passed 116-29.

Two-thirds Vote to Raise Taxes: 5/10/99 vote on LD 359 (see Senate vote). The bill was defeated 72-77.

Ban Lawsuits Against Gun Companies: 5/11/99 vote on LD 2192 (see Senate vote). The bill passed 107-42.

Prohibit Strikebreaking Companies: 5/12/99 vote on LD 1046 (see Senate vote). The bill passed 89-60.

Steady Funds for Parkland: 5/6/99 vote on LD 1344, sponsored by House Speaker Steven Rowe (D-Portland) to use 45 percent of the real estate transfer tax (about $6 million a year) for the next 10 years to acquire land for parks. Supporters say the Land for Maine's Future program needs a steady flow of income to be ready to buy when large landowners decide to sell, but opponents say the money should stay in the general fund and be used for other programs or tax cuts. The bill passed 83-63.

Ban Use of Kids to Enforce Tobacco Laws: 5/4/99 vote on LD 2052, sponsored by state Rep. Paul Waterhouse (R-Bridgton), to prohibit the Maine attorney general from using juveniles in sting operations to enforce the prohibition on selling cigarettes to minors. Waterhouse says minors should not be used to entrap store owners, but opponents say using juveniles is the most effective way to catch store owners who are selling cigarettes to kids. The bill passed 115-30.

Ban Self-Service Cigarette Sales: 5/10/99 vote on LD 1582, sponsored by state Rep. Judith Peavy (R-Woolwich), to insure all cigarettes are stored behind store counters so that children cannot reach them. Supporters say counter displays of single packs of cigarettes encourage kids to steal them and get addicted, but opponents say the state should not tell stores how to display products. The bill passed 85-55.

Label Genetically Engineered Food: 5/12/99 vote on LD 713, sponsored by state Rep. Martha Bagley (D-Machias), to require labeling of genetically engineered food. Supporters say the public has a right to know if food has been genetically altered, but opponents say no evidence exists of health hazards and the requirement will hurt Maine businesses. The bill was defeated 49-100.

A 19th CENTURY PARLOR--The Stowell Room, located in the Bethel Historical Society's Robinson House, will be the new site of the BHS Museum Shop. (Photo by Alison Aloisia)

When he took over as director, there were 50 members. Now there are more than 1,000.

Which prompted the purchase of the Robinson House, built in 1821 by O'Neill Robinson and his wife, Betsy Straw. Long-term plans for the house include establishing a research room, exhibit rooms, a fireproof, climate-controlled storage room, education rooms and craft space.

The society plans to hold an Open House on June 3 at 6 p.m. A museum shop, located in a front room to be known as the Stowell Room, is expected to be open. Items for sale will include replicas of old-fashioned wooden toys, a variety of baskets made in Maine, books, magnets with pictures copied from old postcards.

The room itself, named in honor of George and Harriett Stowell, will represent an 1881 late-Victorian parlor. It features the more-than-century-old organ from the Gilead Congregational Church. The organ has been in storage since 1987. "It's in great shape," said Bennett.

Also on display are late 19th-century chairs from the Bethel Chair Factory. They flank a brick fireplace inlaid with stones -- a sporting-camp look common at the turn of the century.

The Robinson House will be open Tuesday through Saturday in June. Hours are Tues.-Fri., 1 to 4 p.m. and Saturday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Beginning July 1, it will be open the same hours as in June, as well as Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m. (through Labor Day).

Next week's Open House will be followed by a 7:30 p.m. lecture. Bennett will discuss the architectural history of the house, while Howe will give an account of the families that lived in it through the years.

Howe and Bennett hope for a large turnout. "We hope people will get as excited about it as we are," said Bennett.

store, and a pizza place, followed by her current jobs. The experiences were enough to teach her that, in her words, "I knew I didn't want to do food service all my life."

What she really wanted to do, it turned out, was write. "Every time I'd think about what I wanted to do I pictured myself writing. It was a thought that wouldn't go away. So I signed up for college writing (through UMA). I enjoyed it, and decided to go for a B.A."

That was in 1996. Howe also decided to put her love of writing together with a dream she's had since she was six years old -- teaching. She's working on a degree in English, with plans to also earn a teaching certificate.

She has been taking classes on an average of two per semester.

It makes for a seven-day a week schedule. Weekdays begin at 4 a.m., when she goes in to bake at the Java House. She gets done there around 9:30 a.m., and then it may be off to clean a house before heading to class.

Some of her classes have been ITV courses offered at Telstar High School, but many are "live" classes at UMA. That means a weekly drive to Augusta in all kinds of weather. And getting there via Route 219 is not an easy prospect. The road is known for its frost heaves and generally rough condition.

But Howe takes the bumps in stride. Despite the road, it's not a bad drive because there's little traffic on 219 most of the time, Howe said. And if it snows, "I can go 20 miles an hour and no one cares," she said.

She also has an American Automobile Association membership. So far, she's only needed to use it for minor problems -- like locking her keys in the car and leaving the lights on. "I work so hard, and I'm so tired, I do stupid things," she said.

Still, the drive has its benefits. It gives her "myself time," in her words.

Howe also works at the Java House on Saturday mornings, and occasionally finds time for a nap in the afternoon. Sunday is homework day. "I try not to think past today," she said.

It helps to have a supportive husband -- Clayton, whom she married last summer. "I couldn't do it without him," she said. "He's very understanding when I have to write a paper."

And Howe has to write more papers than most students. She's a member of the UMA honors program. That means extra projects and papers in some of her classes.

Why take on even more work? "I saw my grades as coming far

WHAT WORKERS THESE MORTALS BE--Diana Marie Howe works two jobs while pursuing a college degree. Day job #1 is at the Java House in Bethel. Day job #2 is her own cleaning business. too easily," she said. "I didn't feel I was getting my money's worth. I didn't feel challenged. UMA gears its programs toward working people (who may find it difficult to complete the work for the more rigorous honors program)," said Howe.

She joined the honors program last fall, and has taken two classes -- Shakespeare and a European novel course -- under the honors format.

She's pleased with the plan, she said. She's also successful -- she has a 3.98 grade point average, and is halfway to her degree. "I can see the light at the end of the tunnel," she said. "It gets brighter each semester."

Howe recently applied to do a presentation at the college National Honors Convention in Florida this fall. Her topic: "The Manipulation of Imagination in Shakespeare's 'A Midsummer Night's Dream.'"

What drives Howe to push herself like this?

It turns out she has another dream besides teaching. "I'd like to write a novel that will still be on a library bookshelf 100 years from now." True-to-life fiction about real life situations interests her.

"My grandfather was a writer. He wrote a lot of poetry," she said. Writing a book, said Howe, "would be my gift to my grandfather."

Students and mothers

There are other people in the Bethel area who are also pursuing a degree through UMA. They, too, spend long, hard days at work and at school.

Angela Gaudreau of Bethel has two children, and, like Howe, operates a cleaning business. She's completed two years of work at UMA, and is now applying to the Central Maine Medical Center School of Nursing for the fall of 2000.

"I've been cleaning for 15 years, and I decided I'd like to try something new," she said.

That means getting up at 4 a.m. to clean businesses -- and getting back home by 8:30 a.m. to get her children up and off to school. For her, she said, the most difficult part of her life is "not having enough time for my kids."

Gaudreau may look to Merrie Lee Ojeda for inspiration. Ojeda -- the mother of five -- just earned a bachelor's degree in social sciences.

She started out a little ahead in the game -- she had two years of college right out of high school. But it still took her six years of working and going to school part-time.

"Sometimes it was tough to find time to do my homework," she said. "There were times I would fall asleep over my books."

Ojeda worked part-time at Crescent Park Elementary School this year. She hopes to continue working in education until her younger children are farther along in school.

She would like to keep the school schedule because it allows her more time with the children. Then, she may look for work in the social science field.

She hopes her experience and those of the others will serve as inspiration.

"More people may think, 'Maybe I can do it, too,'" she said.

Beach

Selectmen clearly hope that by maximizing the last two of these sources, they can minimize the impact of the first two.

"A lot of people have indicated a willingness to help with the fundraising," said Bob Chadbourne, a selectman and member of the Beach Committee.

Chadbourne argued Monday for not including a specific amount of money in the article, reasoning that if the town had the $350,000 in hand (and approved by voters) there would be less incentive for donors to step up to the plate.

But his fellow board members disagreed.

Reggie Brown said he favored retaining the figure, "so that everybody knows where they are."

Don Bennett concurred. "You buy it. You get that behind you, and you go on from there," he said.

Strong support at hearing

"God is still making people, but he is not making any more waterfront property," said Alberta Merrill, at last week's hearing on the purchase.

Merrill, a member of the Beach

Committee and the Bethel Recreation Committee, seemed to sum up the feelings of just about everyone at the hearing.

And others argued the time has come for the town to go ahead and make such a purchase.

Bennett said that since he moved to Bethel in 1965 people have been saying the town should do something to provide more swimming and recreational opportunities. "And we haven't done anything," he said. "Now it's time to do something."

Wendy Rice, who owns a camp on the pond, said: "I think it would be a shame to let a property like this go by. There's a lot of kids in town who don't have the chance that my children and my grandchildren have to be on that pond all summer."

"I'm all for it. I know its going to change my peaceful little life on Song to some extent, but that's OK. Young people need a place to go," she said.

Even one of the town's more outspoken fiscal conservatives, Budget Committee member Pat Doonen, supported the purchase.

"When I was a kid I swam out there, and I think the town hasn't done enough for kids in the town," she said. "I think it would be a wonderful thing."

And the tax bite didn't deter Doonen.

If the town spreads the cost out over 15 years, the annual impact on the owner of a $100,000 property is projected to be approximately $20.

But, said Doonen: "I certainly wouldn't object to $100-a-year increase in my tax bill."

That observation caused some surprise, and prompted Bennett to quip: "Will the real Pat Doonen please stand up?"

In a straw poll as the meeting drew to a close, 28 Bethel voters said they supported the purchase; two were undecided, and no one was opposed.

Bethel

by Virginia Keniston
Robert and Mary Wentzell Eichel of Worcester, Mass., have arrived at their Songo Pond cottage for the summer months.

A previous report in this column stated that Joyce Bennett had knee surgery a couple weeks ago was incorrect. This correspondent has been informed that surgery will have been done on Wednesday of this week at Stephens Memorial Hospital.

Timothy and Joellen Carter have been visiting with their son, John, at Middle Intervale for 10 days. They have now returned to Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Ruel (Maureen) Swain is a patient at Stephens Memorial Hospital, having had hip surgery last Friday. She has been in the same room with Virginia Keniston, who is recovering very well from recent surgery, and returned to her home on Monday.

Mrs. Jackie Van Leuven was taken to the hospital the past week with a broken bone in her knee. She is home and will be receiving extensive therapy. Her family is around to give her support. She extends her thanks and appreciation to the Bethel Rescue Unit for their prompt and courteous care.

Andrew Davis and son James of North Berwick participated in the Soap Box Derby competition at Rumford on Sunday. They spent Saturday night with Amy Davis, mother and grandmother, and visited with her Sunday before returning home.

Earl and Mary Paine and Lindley and Pauline Wieden were at a family party at the home of Amy and Jeff Collins in Exeter, N.H., to welcome their new great-granddaughter.

Linda Jackson Brooks from Fredericton, New Brunswick, Canada, is visiting with her parents, Earlon and Mary Paine.

Tim and Gail Brooks, new owners, have moved into the Leona Flint house on Main Street. They recently sold their home on the Northwest Bethel Road.

Harry and Barbara Kuzyk are expected to arrive home from Elton, Fla., this week, where they have been since December.

Leroy Brown of Norfolk, Va.; Linda Foster of Pittsfield, Mass.; Nancy Vargiu from Tempio, Pausania, Italy, were home for the graveside services of their father, James Brown. Also here was Arlene Brown of Salem, N.H., a sister, who stayed for a visit with her sister, Rachel MacKay and husband Blake. Nancy returned to Italy on Sunday.

Sylvia Bird Hoey of South Portland, formerly of Bethel, and daughter Sandra, with her son, were callers in the area on Sunday, and attended the Albany Congregational Church for the morning service and visited with her niece, Jacqueline Schuesler.

Martha Bangs of Dresden and Rachel McKnight of Jericho, Vt., were weekend callers of their father, Robert Keniston, and visited with their mother, Virginia Keniston, in the hospital.

Miss Isabelle Bennett of Lexington, Mass., was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Westleigh of West Bethel over the weekend.

A retirement party for Reginald Westleigh was held at his home in West Bethel on Sunday, May 23. Eighty friends and family members traveled from near and far to attend the festive occasion. It was a wonderful opportunity to visit with family and friends.

Charles and Mary Keoski of Brunswick and Englewood, Fla., arrived in Maine last Saturday for the Westleigh retirement party. Billy Keoski of Kingfield accompanied his parents from Brunswick to Bethel for the occasion. They had lunch with John and Helen Cummings.

Becky Kendall spent the past week visiting with Marilyn Boyker Hammel in Tampa, Fla.

Gregory Howe returned to Gettysburg, Pa., Monday, after visiting with his parents, the Rodney Howes.

Danyelle Swain of Chandler Hill attended a Youth Rally in Norway over the weekend. She met Kathy Kittredge Bean there, who was one of the leaders.

Barbara Patterson is a patient at Stephens Memorial Hospital where she underwent surgery on Monday.

Geneva McCoy returned home last Friday from Stephens Memorial Hospital following surgery on the previous Monday. She is very comfortable and feeling fine.

John and Helen Cummings went to Portland Saturday to attend their granddaughter Carly Cummings' dance recital.

The Bethel House

by Ruth Cummings

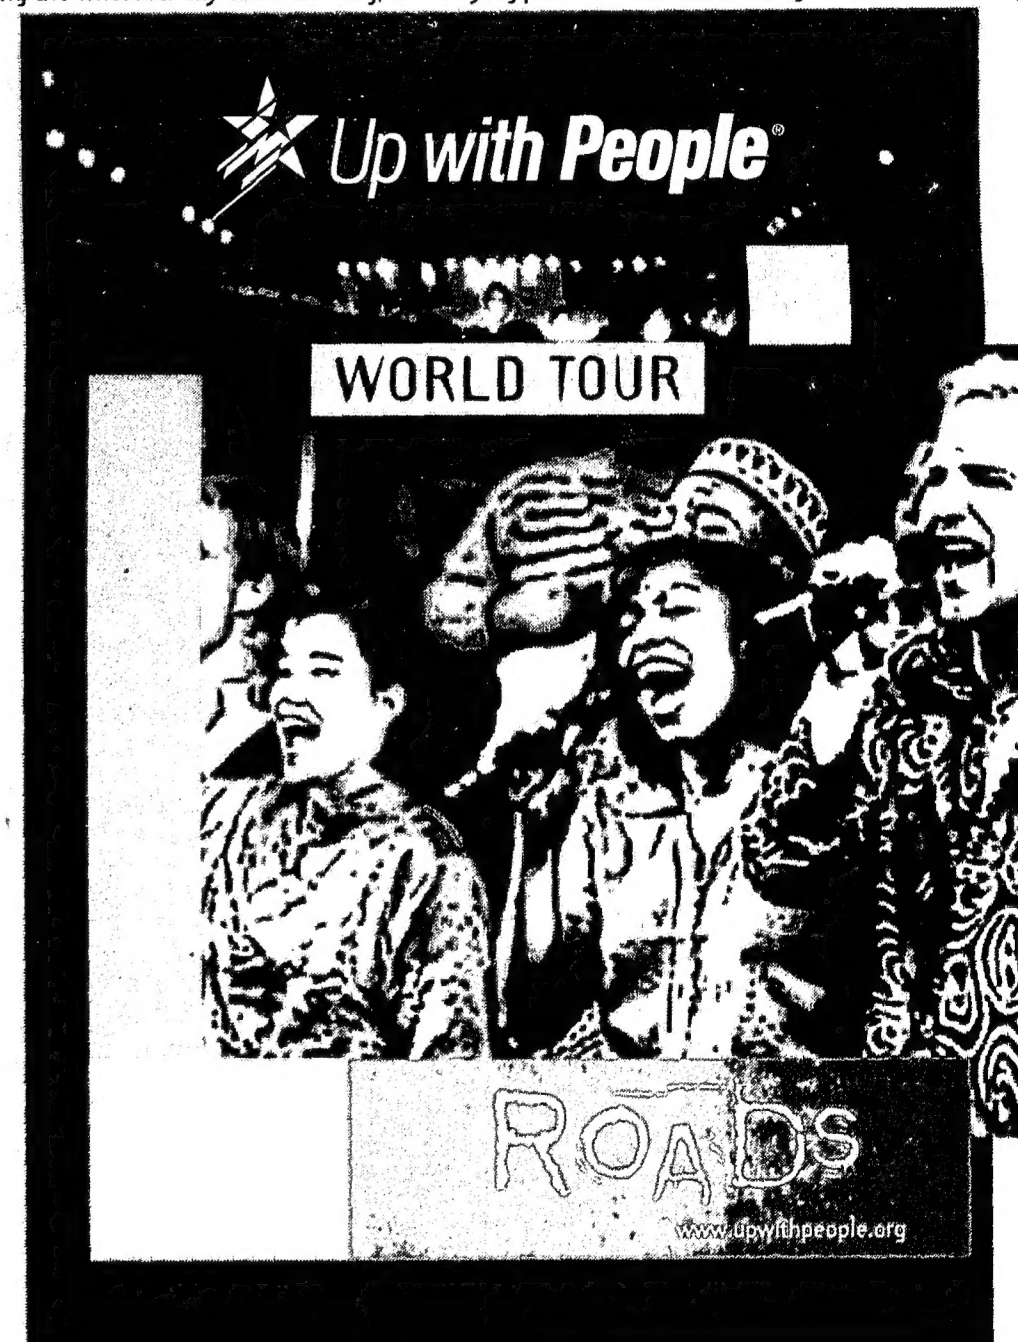

Margaret Quinlan and Irene Russell attended the Bethel Senior Citizens Club dinner at Town & Country Inn on Wednesday.

Paul Bartlett visited his mother, Helena, at the Bethel House recently.

K C Denton was at the Bethel House Tuesday doing maintenance work.

Wayne and Becky Cummings and their children, Jordan, Abbie and Michaela, entertained the following guests at a cookout at their home in East Bethel on May 14: Sonny and Nancy Cummings; Raymond, Rhonda, Darcie and Darren Buker;

FIRST WOMAN COMMANDER
Louise Fitzmorris, an Army veteran of the Vietnam conflict, was recently elected commander of Jackson-Silver American Legion Post #68 in Locke Mills. She is the first woman commander in post history.

and me. Cathy Newell stopped by Saturday to ask me to ride to Pooh Corner with her, but as I had already been invited to the cookout, she just visited with me until Sonny and Nancy came for me. I certainly enjoyed her visit.

Cecelia and Lillian Kjellman spent the weekend with their grandparents, Drew and Judy Webster.

There was a social hour Sunday after Church.

Pastor Rick's message was very nice and was "Jesus, Friendship on the highest plain." The ladies trio of Andrea Bennett, Nancy Fox and Nancy Hansen had a special song. A video was shown on Bosnia.

As I type this news, the words of one of the hymns pass through my mind. "Oh what peace we often forfeit, Oh what needless pain we bear, All because we do not carry everything to God in prayer." My mother always loved that hymn, and I think it is just great and so true.

Bethel got its first Post Office on Jan. 5, 1815. At the first, it was in the home of the postmaster and it was moved from house to house. It has been on Main Street the greater part of the time, and at its present location for 57 years, except for the time July 1998 to the time it was moved back and during the time renovations were being made on the building. It was enlarged a great deal.

A drug store was first at the site of Preb's in 1861 and remained there but under different managements until Preb sold the business to Rite Aid in December of 1998. After Preb sold, many of his customers went to Ketner or some other places instead of Rite Aid.

Vada Glover was up on Tuesday. She went over with me and I got a haircut at Gail's and Heidi's. We went to the Post Office and Foodliner and to Pat's Pizza at noon and over to Subway at night. We also walked some and sat out on the porch. Too nice a day to stay in all day. We did play eight games of cribbage, however, and now I am five games ahead in 225 games, but she was ahead for three months and at one time 10 games ahead.

Peter Morton of Old Orchard Beach was in town on Tuesday and he stopped by for a few minutes. Peter just never forgets me.

The next meeting will be Memorial and election of officers. Larry Billings gave some items for CWA to sell.

Nancy Willard will be starting ballroom dance classes on June 3 at the old Union Church at South Woodstock. Classes will be held June 3, 10, 17 and 24 and July 1 and 8. The time is 7:30 to 9 p.m. and the cost is $25 per person. The classes are to benefit the Franklin Grange. For more information call 665-2788.

The Woodstock Republican Committee is having a fund drive during the month of May. Any person not contacted can send a donation to the Republican town treasurer, Margaret Hall. Evelyn T. Bean has been in charge of the fund drive. Roland Lord is the town chairman, Howard MacKillop is finance and Olive Risko is the Republican town secretary. Town Republicans are honored to have Paul Billings as vice chairman of the Oxford County Committee.

Bryant Pond Hour on Channel IV TV is Thursday at 4 and 7 p.m. and on Saturday rebroadcast of church services is at 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. Each Thursday is Women's Bible Class at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. and Men's Discipleship Class is at 7 p.m. Looking ahead -- on June 2 missionaries Dave and Ruth Brendle will be at the Baptist Church for prayer meeting. On June 13 missionary Tom Gibbons, who serves in Argentina, will speak at the morning service. On June 16 missionary Hattie Kneeland will be at the prayer meeting.

The Woodstock-Greenwood Senior Citizens will meet on Thursday, June 3, at the Country Way Restaurant in South Paris.

Don't forget the Memorial Day Program and Parade on Monday, May 31. The program starts at 1 p.m. at the Honor Roll.

The Historical Society represents and serves the area well. It also captures the essence of life in Maine and New England through the fine exhibits in its museum. With limited resources, the society accomplishes much and applies the lessons of the past to the present and future. It has established a legacy Woodstock can be proud of. Visit the museum on Saturdays from 1 to 4 p.m. this summer. The society values your help and support. Give both.

Curator Larry Billings gave Mary Billings and Kathleen Bean some little trophies for organizing the guides at the museum this summer. Things given to the society recently have been a book on America's history lands and a book on Victorian antiques. Representative Jodrey gave some information on the Maine Legislature. The Maine State Museum has informed the historical society it got some of the furniture from the Conservation School at the auction to preserve here in Maine. Curator Billings took things from the historical society to the D.U.V. sale and made some money for them. He also sold some of his own things.

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson

Heidi Andrews from Bartlett Grammar School will be graduating this June and looks forward to entering Kennett High School in the fall. Heidi is the niece of Loretta Andrews.

The Girl Scouts had a campout in Bridgton recently. Crystal and Nicky Dunn attended.

The Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Hannah F. Richardson Tent 19 put flags out at the cemeteries this past week.

Donald McAllister from Chatham, Va., and Joyce Ann Bray and Nikki and Melissa Elliott from Dry Fork, Va., were here at the home of Delbert and Joyce McAllister and to attend the graveside services of Bill McAllister, which was held Friday, May 14.

All the people who knew and loved Bill, also his son and daughter-in-law (Delbert and Joyce) really miss him a lot. Bill used to go there every day to visit until the last two weeks when he was so sick.

On Sunday, I stopped in and had a short, quick tour of the new Stoneham Country Store and new restaurant, which is coming along real good. If you know the Ruggs, you know it will be good. We all can hardly wait for them to open. It has taken a lot of hard work and finances to get things in order -- but they will do it. No tentative date for opening though. There is still a lot more work to be done.

Albert and I were in South Otisfield Saturday and while there had a nice visit with Ephraim Jilson, also later with Cappy Gallant, who was formerly with the Huff Funeral Home in South Paris. Cappy owns a nice store in South Casco and was real pleased to see us.

Twenty-eight Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts from Lovell and this area went to the Camporee at Camp Hinds, Raymond, this past weekend. They had a really good time and much thanks goes to the parents and leaders.

I have a couple of corrections in last week's paper. First, Tom Winsor is a State Representative, not Senator, and the date of North Waterford supper is June 22, not 23. Sorry.

Today, I heard that Kitty Nelson has been named LPN Nurse of the Year at Stephens Memorial Hospital.

Upton

by Eleanor LeComte

The weekend before Memorial Day is surely a work weekend. Our usually quiet town is humming with lawnmowers, weed whackers and the "beep, beep" of heavy equipment backing up. The ladies are swapping perennials and men are talking fishing. Everything is greenest green. The apple and crab-apple trees are in full bloom and never were they prettier.

Always remember that God has a sense of humor. He sent us mosquitoes and black flies to plague us while the swallows and bats feast on the little monsters.

Gerry Geiling was in town briefly this weekend picking up his boat and trailer. There are lots of lakes and fishing holes in the Adirondacks that he plans to visit. We will miss Gerry, Amy and Matthew and visits to the "Trading Post."

Bob Dapolito is busy working on the Douglass homestead on Route 26. They hope to have it ready by the projected opening day, June 5.

Sue and Richard Angevine seemed to have settled down in Upton without fanfare. They are still working on their new home, and they have already established some fine gardens on their property. The view from their windows is spectacular. They are using rhubarb from the patch started by Grandmother Angevine. They coasted through the winter, and after completing year one, we wish them many more happy years.

The Ladies Aid met on May 17. Election of officers was first on the agenda. Elected were president, Simonne Lavalley; vice president, Margaret Mitchell; treasurer, Elsie Fuller; and secretary, Ellie LeComte. Programs and projects for 1999 were discussed. There will be a yard and bake sale midsummer and the annual Labor Day family dinner will be held again this year. The Abbott Family Reunion will take place on July 24. Dates for other events will be announced. All the ladies in town are invited to join the Ladies aid.

The Selectmen report that the assessment program for 1999 has been completed. The commitment to the tax collector will be early this year.

The birds have been quite plentiful this week, with many warblers being sighted in the area. Sue Angevine and Vi Bernier saw a "very" yellow one on Back Street.

After considering the markings and color, they came to the conclusion that it was a hermit warbler. That's a new one on me. Vi says the woods up there are loaded with little birds. Sue Angevine has baby evening grosbeaks at her feeder. The "papa" bird is doing all the feeding, so the mother must still be on the nest. The Canada geese on the grass island strip were seen last week with six little goslings. They were about tennis ball size. Buster was the first to see them as they proudly paraded past his dock.

Mom and Pop goose have earned the dubious honor of "bird of the week" as a reward for their patience the last 29 days.

Incidentally, the female hummers arrived this week and the territorial wars over the feeders are gruesome.

by Colista Morgan

As I write this, the delicate notes of a bird's song float through the window.

This is late to write about Mother's Day. It is now 79 years since I had a mother but I remember her well.

The story of Mother's Day goes to Ann Reeves Jarvis who lived in Grafton, W.Va. She was the mother of eight children and worked hard at age 26 to improve unhealthy conditions in her community.

During the Civil War she worked to bring unity between the mothers of the Blue and the Gray.

Mrs. Jarvis wished to establish a national Mother's Day but did not live long enough to accomplish that goal. But her daughter, Anna, continued the work and was involved in making her mother's plan succeed. So the first official plan succeeded, and the first official Mother's Day service was held on May 10, 1908 at a Methodist Church in Grafton. Five-hundred white carnations were sent by Anna because this was the favorite flower of her mother.

On May 8, 1914, after taking her cause to Washington to the lawmakers and to President Woodrow Wilson, it was approved by President Wilson that the second Sunday in May be observed as Mother's Day. He signed a resolution stating, "The service rendered the U.S. by American mothers is the greatest source of the country's strength and inspiration."

"My mother deserves all the credit because of her tireless efforts," her daughter stated.

Faith, hope and love best describe the beauty of mothers whether 18 or 80. They remain irreplaceable treasures.

Most of our geese have moved away but our ducks are still here.

Dale and Marcia Mills of North Haven came to see me over the weekend.

Bradly and Ann attended a family gathering on Sunday.

Rena Curtis had hand surgery this week.

Eleanor helped with her church sale on Saturday.

South Woodstock

by Andrea Wing
Bruce and Cindy
Clements along with their children Sarah and Kyle, Weare, N.H., spent some time with Bruce's mother, Marta Clements, recently. While they were visiting they went to Swanville to take over the stone for Nick Clements' grave. Marta said it's always good to see the family whenever possible.

The Hathaways are now home from their travels across the country. They went, among other states, to New Mexico, Arizona, and saw the Grand Canyon, California and Oregon. They had put on 8,200 miles by the time they got back to South Woodstock. Bev and Dick Melville went along as far as Las Vegas and flew home after two weeks. They had a wonderful time seeing all the sights.

Erlon Twitchell has been in Maine Medical Center for surgery recently and is now home and getting better. He was in the hospital five days in all. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Two South Woodstock students made the top 10 list at Telstar Regional High School graduating Class of 1999. Emily Phillips placed second in her class. She is the daughter of Bradford and Carla Phillips. Jeffrey Chandler placed third in his class. He is the son of Jim and Jane Chandler. Congratulations to you both and much luck to you all in the years ahead. Brandy Poland is also graduating from THS this year.

Heath Poland graduated from CMTC in Auburn recently. Good luck to you also, Heath.

I had the pleasure of baby-sitting my great-grandson one day last week. Zachary is now seven weeks old and a real cutie, of course.

Our neighbors, Edna and Jim Boutlier, are moving to Michigan. They have been good neighbors and we will miss seeing them.

Larry Billings, curator of the Woodstock Historical Society, reports that he gave Mary Billings and Kathleen Bean some little trophies for organizing the guides for the museum this summer. He also reports that the museum has received a few old postcards.

I thought that I had finished with the Sex Wax subject, but something has come up. (That doesn't sound right.) A few days ago I got a package in the mail from my big sister's favorite (only) granddaughter, Tracyn Thayer, who lives in Bryson City, N.C. Turns out the package contained a pink disk, about the size and shape of those disinfectant disks you see in the urinals in men's restrooms. The label on one said says, "Mr. Zogs Sex Wax, The Best For Your Stick. Never Spoils, Cool Water Surf Wax, Do Not Eat/Chew ...". Tracyn says that the place where she works sells Sex Wax for use on canoe and kayak paddles to give you a better grip. Of course, one should keep in mind that Tracyn and her husband, Norman, run in those 300-mile survival type races through mountains, deserts, white-water rapids, glaciers and the like and claim they enjoy it, so their mental state is suspect.

I've tried to get an early start on my garden this year, with mixed results. My attempt at early spinach failed miserably, I suspect because that New Zealand spinach isn't really spinach. My early peas are looking good, but the ones I planted a week later caught the recent cold snap and are spotty. My sweet corn was coming up nicely, until the crows found it; they proceeded to start pulling it, thinning it much more than I thought necessary.

Now, I've heard that sometimes you can divert the crows' attention by scattering scratch feed around, which they like better than soggy corn kernels they pull out of the ground. I scattered some scratch feed around, near the garden and also within clear view of our dining room. Then I got out the .22 magnum rifle with a scope and put a few rounds in a clip, which I gave

West Paris Historical Society met on Monday, May 17, with 27 present. The pot-luck supper had a real good variety of food. During the meeting, final plans were made for the Maine Municipal Association supper on May 24. We enjoyed listening to Ben Conant telling us about the history of Oxford County and other interesting facts. Ben was greatly appreciated by our group.

On High School Alumni Day the

Historical Society Museum will be open from 2 to 4 p.m., with Eleanor Inman and Joyce Lamb as greeters and in charge.

Historical Society members are selling chances on a gas grill, gift certificates from Perham's and L.L. Bean, Joe Perham's tapes and $50 worth of lobsters. The lucky winners will be decided on July 19. The next meeting of the Historical Society will be held on June 21, preceded by a potluck, supper.

We are sorry that Audrey Hadley is confined to her apartment after her recent surgery. Cards and telephone calls would be much appreciated.

Clean water...

It's more than just a pretty picture.

Clean water is essential for our tourism and fishing industries, our health and our recreation. But Maine's water quality is in danger. Many lakes, rivers and coastal waters are threatened by pollution from run-off and toxic chemicals.

There are things you can do in your home and community to protect Maine's waters.

West Paris

Postmaster Retirees' lunch and meeting in Waterville on Wednesday.

The West Paris Senior Citizens will have a potluck dinner on June 1 at Ledgeview activity room. Members are to bring ideas for the July and August meetings.

Vince and Beverly Stevens, Lena Dean and Bev's mother, Georgia Thayer, joined relatives at Fandangles in North Conway on Sunday. They had a birthday party for Lena's sister.

It seems good to see the hummingbirds at the feeder.

Locke Mills

by Lorraine Larson

First item on the agenda is to offer our sincerest sympathy to Bea Brown, Owen and Debbie, Kim and Allan and other members of the Brown family on the loss of Jim Brown last Thursday evening (May 20). I'm sure not only his family but all the people who knew him from the store and those who got their plants from him are going to mourn his passing. To all of us who grew up in Bethel Village, Jim represented so much of what was good in the middle of the century, caring father, good business man, faithful storekeeper, and dispenser of penny candy, a most admirable talent to the youngsters. His was a life well lived. He will be missed.

Even in the midst of sorrow life goes on, and this evening we got to see our first hummingbird, a gaudy male from one of the larger species. He came dipping into the marigolds in the window box and caught the eye of one of our cats napping on a box in front of the window. Obviously, a cat nap is a nap with one eye open and the ability to go from doze to wide awake in half a second flat. She suffered the indignity, however, of bumping her nose on the windowpane and, to add insult to injury, Andy yelled at her, which caused Princess, as enforcer of rules, to rush at her and chase her into the kitchen. Never a dull moment around here.

Sunday afternoon, Andy and I were in Lewiston where I attended a baby shower for Sharon and Steve Rubin at the home of Ellie and Fred Peterson. Sharon is their youngest daughter. She and Steve expect a little girl in July, so she got a lot of pink outfits, although there were some of other colors plus a lot of other things. There were about 30 women there plus several men. The women enjoyed watching Sharon and Steve open their gifts in the solarium, while the men gathered around the tables by the pool to talk. We did notice that when the buffet luncheon was announced they decided to join in the festivities, however. Nothing like food to put the shyest male at ease. We did tease Uncle Fritz a bit, noting that he sure started something, because if it hadn't been for him none of the people there would have been there that day, a thought that really made him smile.

Ken and Barb Wakefield have returned after spending nearly a month visiting relatives in Michigan and taking in shows in Branson, Mo. I haven't seen them yet but Andy says they looked tanned and fit, which is the way to look after coming home from a trip.

Losing Jim Brown has got me to thinking about Brown's Variety Store. I think to this day I could, given a couple rooms the same size as the store and the money to do so, restock the rooms nearly the same as they were back then. To be sure, one did not have as many selections as one does in today's stores, which to me is a plus. It was much easier to make selections when there were not as many choices. On the other hand, what one wanted was usually there. For instance, I was looking for pink velvet ribbon to use on Sharon's package, and today's department store had a large area devoted to ribbons but pink velvet was not to be found. I'm sure Brown's would have had it. I remember going to South Portland mall around Christmas back in the '70s and then coming home sans packages and going to Brown's Variety Store and Joing my Christmas shopping. I could not find a thing I wanted at the mall. One didn't have to worry about being run down there either.

I may have mentioned being at a department store right after having surgery and hearing one mother tell her son to "be aggressive with your shopping cart; everyone else is." I sure didn't want to be in the path of his aggression. Wonder what form his aggression will take when he reaches his teens? People today could learn a lot from a Brown's Variety in their neighborhood. I know I did.

From the
Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

The next meeting of the Bethel Historical Society will be an open house beginning at 6 p.m. in the Robinson House, next door to the Dr. Moses Mason House. All those attending will have an opportunity to tour the society's new space and hear plans for its renovation and adaptation to new uses.

The offices of the executive director, society office secretary and bookkeeper have already moved to the third floor of the building.

The museum shop will be open in the front of the building on the first floor, and directly across the hall will be an exhibit devoted to the architectural history of the building and the families who lived there from 1821.

A special necklace will be presented to the society by Jim Mann of Mountain Mann Jewelers to raise funds for the Capital Campaign.

At 7:30 p.m. there will be a presentation by Curator of Collections Randall H. Bennett on the architectural history of the house, followed by one on the families by Stanley R. Howe, the society's executive director. The house will be open to anyone interested in seeing it and become familiar with the plans for its future.

Many thanks go to everyone who helped make the St. Never's Day yard sale such a success. Much appreciation is extended to all those who made donations and to those who helped with the sale. More than $800 was realized for the benefit of the capital campaign.

The Bethel Historical Society's 20th annual Faye Taylor Memorial

Art Show will be held this Saturday, May 29, in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Participants in the show will be SAD44 elementary students, Grades one through six. The theme this year is covered bridges. Cash prizes will be awarded to top prize winners in three divisions. The show honors the memory of local artist Faye Sanborn Taylor (1908-1972), a founder of the society, who was particularly interested in children's art programs.

From the
Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

All members and friends are invited to the upcoming Business After Hours on Tuesday, June 8, at the Bethel Animal Hospital, Route 26, 179 Walker's Mills Road, from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Gary and Anne Stuer invite you to tour their new facility and meet new veterinary associate, Dr. Dana Hall. Refreshments will be served.

Plans are well underway for the 2nd annual Bethel Antique Show and Sale, Saturday, June 5, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., to be held in the Crescent Park School, Bethel. We are still seeking volunteer help for setup on Friday, June 4, from 5 to 8 p.m., Saturday from 7 to 8:30 a.m. and breakdown from 3 to 5 p.m. on Saturday. The antique dealers really appreciate the help. Please call the office with the hours you are available.

The Bethel Inn & Country Club was host to the Maine Association of Chamber executives last Thursday and Friday. More than 30 chambers from all corners of the state were present and had a wonderful time in our beautiful town. Our chamber put together gift bags for each of them, and we would like to thank the following businesses for their contribution to it: Wight's Tights, Bethel Inn & Country Club, Aurora & Quanta Productions, Maine Line Products, Sunday River Inn, NTL Institute, Shipyard Ale, Pooh Corner Farm & Greenhouses, New Solutions, Sunday River Adventure Center, Maine Balsam Fir Products, Norway Savings Bank, Bethel Area Chamber.

The 10th annual Bethel Art Fair and 4th of July Festival Committee has been working diligently on the schedule of the day as well as gathering financial support for the event. We are grateful to the following businesses that have come forward this week with support: Sheridan Corp of Fairfield, Bethel Animal Hospital, Portland Natural Gas Transmission Systems, NTL Institute, Stony Brook Campground, Wild Rose, Wilderness Medical Associates and Sun Valley Sports. The Textron Financial/Bethel Area Chamber Golf Classic Committee has also been busy and have added the following partners to the list: Associates of Glens Falls, Gilman Electric, Sysco Food Services of Northern New England, Transaction Resources Inc., Willis Corroon, Shipyard Ale/Seadog Breweries, McBurnie Oil/Country Gas, Bethel Station, JGB Enterprises, Ingersoll Rand. Many thanks to the members of both these committees who are working so hard on behalf of the chamber.

The Education Committee and the Economic Development Subcommittee is meeting Wednesday, June 2, at 8 a.m. at Wild River Realty. We will be discussing the Business Visitation Program. Anyone interested is welcomed to attend.

From the Mahoosuc Arts Council

On Wednesday, June 9, the Mahoosuc Arts Council will hold its annual meeting in Ordway Hall at Gould Academy. The meeting will begin at 4:30 p.m. followed by a social gathering.

The Mahoosuc Arts Council would like to invite all interested members of the community to attend. This is an opportunity to meet with the Board of Directors and other council members and to share information and ideas.

The Mahoosuc Arts Programming Committee is in the process of scheduling the 1999-00 season, and they would appreciate receiving suggestions at this meeting or by calling the Mahoosuc Arts office at 824-3575.

From the
West Paris Public Library

A brainstorming meeting will be held at the West Paris Library on Monday, June 7, at 7 p.m. The purpose of the meeting is to develop ideas for a new library and is open to all interested citizens, who are encouraged to participate and share their thoughts and ideas.

While the "little castle" has served the town well over the years, space limitations, structural problems, and other factors make it necessary to explore all possibilities for addressing the library needs, not only now, but for the future.

From the
Bethel Family Health Center

The Bethel Family Health Center will offer several clinics throughout the summer. The BFHC is hoping that by offering these screenings, parents will take the opportunity to plan ahead for their child's healthcare requirements. Physicals are often forgotten until the end of the summer and then there is such a crunch that they cannot be accommodated in a timely manner.

The first clinic will be held on June 16 for those children entering kindergarten. This physical includes height, weight, hearing, vision, and urine testing as well as necessary immunizations, other blood tests as indicated, as well as the physical exam itself. All children entering kindergarten are required by the school to have this exam/screening. Please call as soon as possible to schedule your child. These exams can also be scheduled at dates other than this clinic setting if this day is not convenient. The BFHC staff will assess the need for an additional clinic if there is a demand.

In July and August, the BFHC will offer additional clinics for sports physicals and/or sixth-grade physicals. Sports physicals are required every other year and are necessary for your child to play sports at school. If your child begins sports training in mid-August, an up-to-date sport physical will be required prior to then. The dates of these screenings have not been decided as yet. Please remember that these physicals can be booked at any time during the summer as well.

From the Telstar Alumni Association

The monthly meeting of the Telstar Alumni Association was held on Tuesday, May 11, at 6:30 p.m. in the Telstar library. There were seven members present. Mollokett Day (July 17) was discussed. We are planning to have a float, just like last year, and also an information booth, for all alumni members to stop by and just say "hi." Other ideas were a booth for kids' games, hair wraps, and we still need input and ideas from members.

Chet Herrick, Class of '84, is looking for addresses for his classmates. It's their 15th reunion and some of the classmates would like to get together. If '84 is your year, please send your current mailing address to Telstar Alumni Association, 284 Walkers Mills Road, Bethel, ME 04217. We will be glad to forward them to Chet.

Alumni Day (Aug. 14) is also being planned at this time. A barbecue (hot dogs, chips and soda) will be provided. Come from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and see some former classmates. Bring your old yearbooks and photos to share.

The Alumni Dance on May 1 featuring The Impalas was a huge success, as in the past. A good time was had by all who attended. Many thanks to everyone who donated items for the door prizes and also to those people who got the hall set up for the dance, maintained the coffee pot and the clean-up after the dance was over.

The next Alumni meeting is June 8 at 6:30 p.m. in the Telstar library. All alumni members are always invited to attend.

From the
Andover Alumni Association

The Andover Alumni Association will hold its annual banquet on Saturday, May 29, at the elementary school on Pine Street. Tickets at $10 per person will be available at the door as well as through reservations sent to: Andover Alumni Association, P.O. Box 64, Andover, ME 04216. Those unable to attend the event but wishing to support the organization by paying dues of $2 per person, may use the same address.

Honored guests at the banquet will be members of the Class of 1999, either at Telstar Regional High School or Mountain Valley High School: Philip Bailey, Casey Brown, Julie Burgi, Brice Gammon, Jonathan McLean, Christine Richardson, Adam Williamson and Yrral Yates. The 50-year Class of 1949, the 25-year Class of 1974 and the 10-year Class of 1989 will also be honored.

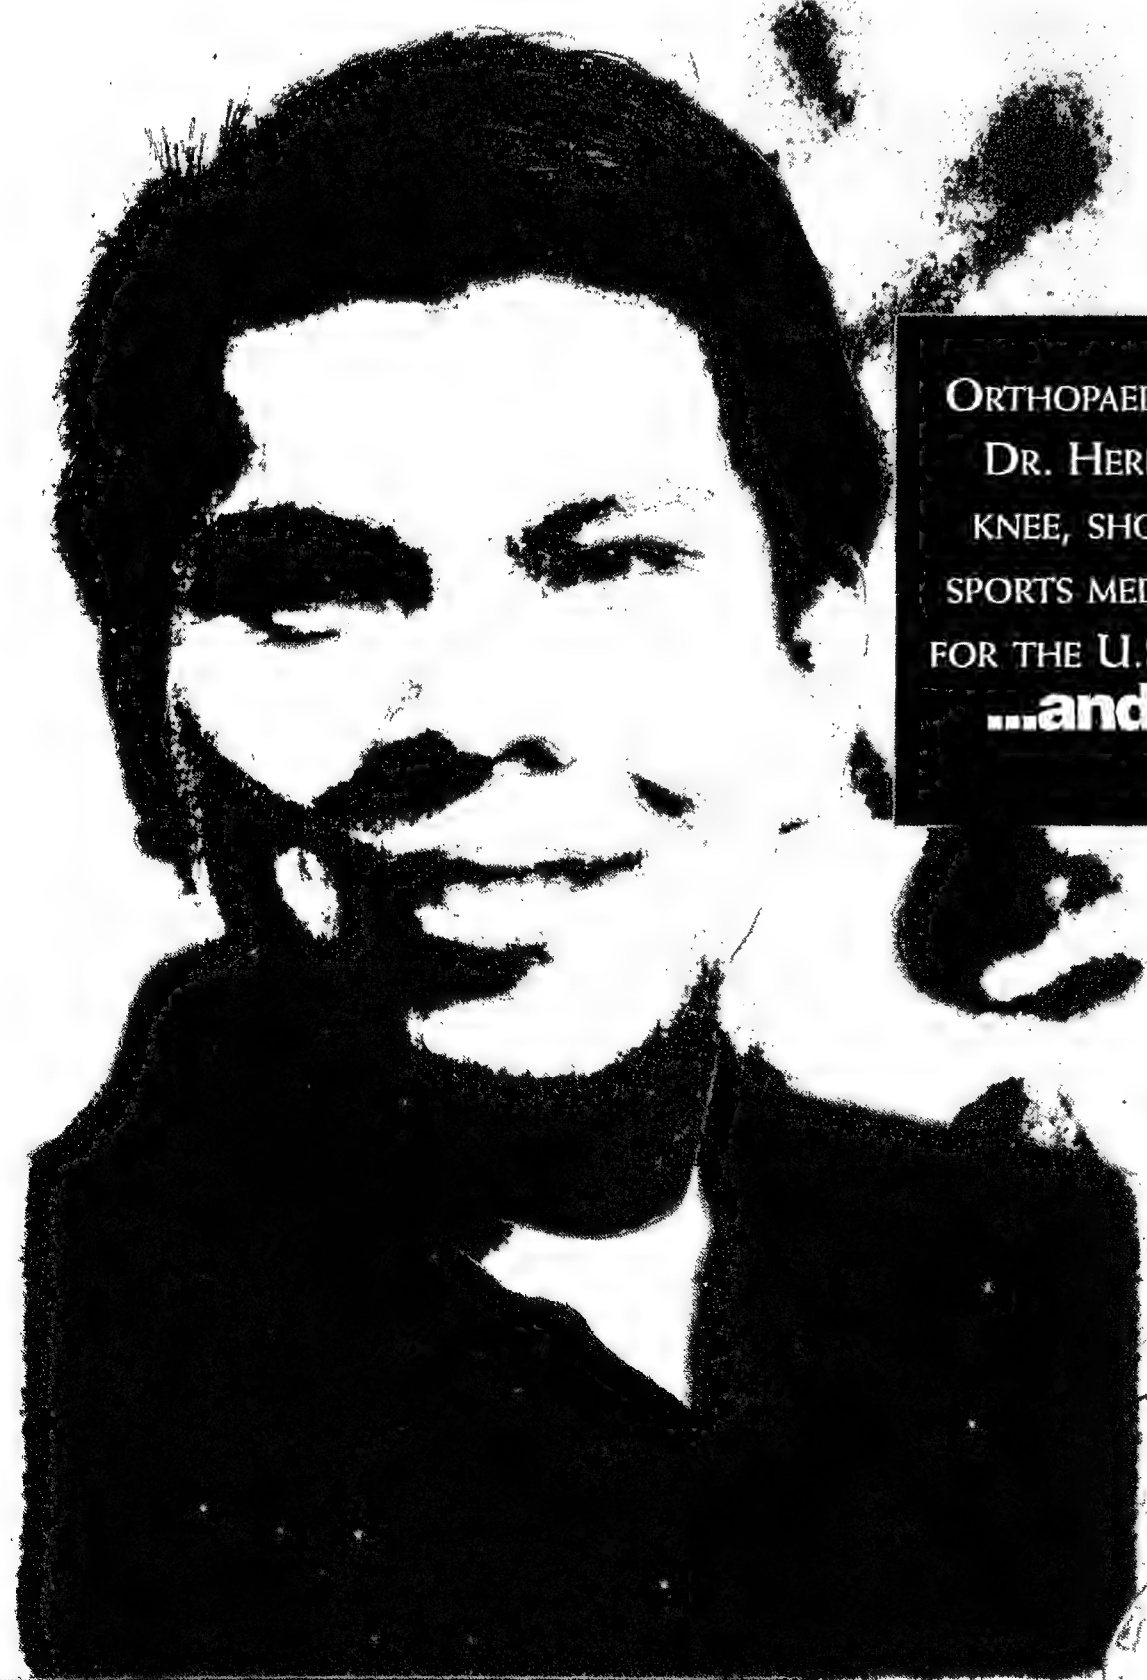

The evening's festivities begin with a social hour from 5 to 6 p.m., followed by a traditional turkey dinner served by women of the First Congregational Church. There will be a brief business meeting after the banquet and the presentation of awards to middle and high school students from Andover. A highlight of the occasion will be an appearance by Norland's "Miss Eunice," noted for her impersonation of a school marm from the last century. Herschel Hall, a member of the Class of 1951, will again provide keyboard music throughout the evening.

Founded in 1929, the Andover Alumni Association has met annually with the exception of a single year during World War II. The mailing list now boasts over 750 names and addresses, with graduates from Andover located in nearly every state. Where the 70th banquet falls on the long Memorial Day weekend, officers Doty (Merrill) Roberts, Bette (Merrill) Britt, Violet (Peters) Swain, Ronnie White and Wes Richardson are anticipating a large group will be joining them on Saturday, May 29.

Conservation Tips:

Combine a beautiful day with eager, energetic children intent on learning more about their environment, and what do you get? Ecology Field Day for the Crescent Park and Woodstock School second-grade classes. Two Conservation Commission members helped with this annual event last week and had a great time reinforcing and augmenting what the children already knew about their town's recycling program. If you have children who participated, you have probably already heard about Mr. Hatch's pet raccoon who can tell the difference between aluminum and tin every time.

The focus was on the three "R's" of waste management: Reduce, Reuse and Recycle. Recycling gets the most attention, but each "R" is important and all of them need to be included in our overall waste management strategy.

Recycling is really the last of the three "R's." It means that the material, be it glass, aluminum, number two plastic or paper, is processed into new products that may or may not resemble the original material. (Turning plastic milk bottles into sweaters is a good example.) Recycling is important because it conserves basic natural resources.

Reuse is simply using something over again, either for its original purpose, or for a new one. Reuse is a good strategy for dealing with things that can't be recycled -- like plastic shopping bags that can be used again for shopping or storage, or donating out-grown clothing to the District Exchange.

Reduce is really the first and most important of the items in the waste management hierarchy. It is the best strategy for dealing with things that can't be recycled or used again. It is also the hardest one to do because it requires thinking about what will happen to a product or container after we have finished with it. For example, instead of having to recycle paper bags, or store plastic bags for reuse, we can use cloth bags for at least some of our shopping trips.

Remember our motto: Save your town cash -- keep it out of the trash.

About the Business Person who Doesn't Advertise...

This person wakes up in the morning to the sound of an advertised alarm clock, climbs out of his advertised bed, and takes off his advertised pajamas. Then he takes a bath in an advertised tub, with advertised soap, shaves with an advertised razor, eats an advertised breakfast food, puts on his advertised clothes and drives to work in his advertised car. He then sits at an advertised desk and writes with an advertised pen. Yet this man doesn't advertise - saying that advertising does not pay.

Eventually, when his unadvertised business goes under, he will advertise it for sale!

JAMES L. BROWN

James L. Brown, 84, of Bethel, died Thursday, May 20, 1999, at his residence.

Born in Fryeburg on Jan. 26, 1915, he was the son of the late E. Leroy and Abbie (Richardson) Brown. Educated in the local Fryeburg schools, James graduated from Fryeburg Academy with the class of 1933. He married Beatrice Brooks on Aug. 1, 1940.

James enlisted and served in the Coast Guard during World War II, where he was employed as a sound operator. He protected the Eastern Seaboard during the war.

Upon returning from the Coast Guard, James became the owner and operator of Brown's Variety for 47 years, before retiring in 1983. Many children made visits to Brown's Variety to spend their allowance.

Mr. Brown would always wait patiently as the children perused his wares and counted out penny candy to purchase.

James was an active member of the Bethel Senior Citizens Club and the Mt. Abram Fish & Game Club. He could often be seen working in his garden and taking care of his perennials. He also enjoyed fishing, especially ice fishing.

Besides his wife of 58 years, survivors include two sons, Leroy of Norfolk, Va., and Owen of Bethel; two daughters, Linda Foster of Pittsfield, Mass., and Nancy Vargiu of Sardinia, Italy; two sisters, Rachel MacKay of Bethel and Arlene Brown of Salem, N.H.; 11 grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren. A brother, Alfred, predeceased him.

Graveside services were held

A Bethel Homecoming

To better serve the needs of expectant mothers in and around Bethel, Cathy Heffernan - a certified nurse midwife and popular member of the Swift River Health Care maternity team - has established a regular appointment schedule at the Bethel Family Health Center.
With both an MS in nursing and full midwifery certification, Cathy has long viewed her chosen work as a calling - not a career. And after attending more than 450 deliveries, this mother of four still applies her talents with the same care, skill and dedication she's brought to her patients for more than 17 years.
To learn more about midwifery, or to arrange an initial consultation with Cathy at the Bethel Family Health Center, we invite you to call 369-0146.
